During Coffee County BOE meeting

Kinston Band Boosters express concern

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Kinston Band Boosters expressed their concern about the lack of a band program at the school to Coffee County Board of Education members Tuesday evening, July 24, during a special meeting of the board.

"There are 41 kids at the Kinston School System without a band program at this time," said T.J. Barlette, president of the Kinston Band Boosters. "The kids show interest in the program, but there is no band director."

Barlette told board members he was only a voice for all the lack of an arts program at Kinston. He said without the band program, it appears to the parents that their children will no longer have access to any arts program.

Also, he said no band program means that students at Kinston would be denied access to college scholarships designed specifically for those involved in band.

"I played ball," said Barlette. "I was a jock; however, my two boys are in the band and I will support them in anything they do."

Basically, he said the parents were filled with concern and

"We're asking

is it, a finite

issue that there will be no band program at

Kinston?" said

Barlette.

"Then, what do we do as band boosters?" and what do we do as parents?"

In response to Barlette, Dr. Linda Ingram, superintendent of the Coffee County School System, said he had "hit the nail on the head" when he mentioned money because Kinston lost 40.8 students last year which dropped the school below 500 students. Because of the drop in students, she said Kinston lost four teacher units this year, and that still leaves the school 5.35 teacher units over.

parents who had expressed concerns since it became evident that the school would not have a band program this year.

He said the students and parents were told the system would allow for the program this year, and many have already purchased instruments. In some cases, he said parents had spent over $1,000 to purchase an instrument for their child.

Another concern Barlette expressed to the board was the

As local students prepare to return to school on Friday, Aug. 3, those at Elba and Zion Chapel will be greeted by road changes.

The City of Elba has been working throughout the summer to repair the school entrance/exit road leading to Taylor Mill Road from the school complex.

"The road had deteriorated so badly in the curve towards Taylor Mill Road," said Elba City Clerk Donnie Morrow. "It became totally unsafe, and we closed the road."

He said a couple of different things had contributed to the deterioration of the road. Moisture was getting to the roadbed, and the school buses were pushing the asphalt off the road.

Morrow said city crews worked to place approximately 400 feet of drain tile on each side of the road. He said the purpose of the drain tile is to catch the moisture before it reaches the roadbed.

Once city employees completed this project, he said the city contracted with SAC Paving for the preparation and resurfacing of the road.

"The road is open again and ready for school," said Morrow.

In the near future, he said the push the asphalt out when a long wheel base vehicle such as a school bus is constantly traveling on the road. Therefore, he said it will be important for the bus drivers to pay attention to their speed on the road.

Elba School Superintendent Danny Weeks said having the road ready for use on the first day of school will be a great benefit for everyone especially with so many parents coming to the schools with their children.

"This road is ideal with the traffic flow, especially for the first couple of days of school," Weeks said. "The road makes it easier to direct traffic, through

A LESSON IN MUSIC...The Southeast Alabama Community Band presented its final concert of the season Monday evening, July 30, at the Elba High School auditorium. The band was formed in January 2001 with Dr. John M. Long as director and consists of musicians from surrounding cities including Montgomery, Prattville, Tallahassee, Dothan, Troy, Daleville, Ozark, Midland City, Cowden and Elba. Other concerts were presented this season in Troy, Opelika and Bainbridge, Ga. The Elba concert was sponsored by Jeff Ellis, director, and the Elba High School Band. Elba native, Art Williams, performed with the band during the first three concerts but was unable to perform "at home" Monday evening due to a prior television commitment. Above, Elba resident Tom Maddox, who played first alto sax in the concert, is shown with Dr. Long discussing a piece of music before the show began. Maddox is a local business owner and assistant director for the Elba High School Band.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

It is going to be a long season in Washington as Congress debates recent recommendations on Social Security revisions. The special bipartisan task force appointed to review the needs and recommend fixes for the pending problems would have relatively little trouble getting the qualifying age for full retirement increased and maybe some other changes, but the proposal to privatize part of the program has stirred a hornet's nest of opposition. Then, as if reality wasn't causing enough opposition, one of the main Democrats on the hill was pictured on TV spewing some inaccurate scare tactic information. Again it will be a long season, even for those not impacted by the peanut quota program . . . but then that is another story altogether.

Getting back to the Social Security issue, we join the opposition, not in a state of panic, but concerned about the ultimate outcome. The idea is for individuals to be able to invest a portion of their SS payments in the stock market. Our main question is "who will take care of those who make the bad investments . . . or worse, get ripped off by the multitude of con artists out there who are probably already figuring out new and creative ways to separate individuals from their retirement money. Even the smartest investor can be in trouble in times like right now when many of the former better stocks have suddenly lost 60% - 80% of their value. We can't call the holders of all living stocks careless investors . . . many, many years of retirement security came from owning utility stocks before many investors lost most of their nest egg in the California energy crisis of the past year.

If investing in the stock market is good for the Social Security system, then write the law and allow the system managers to invest some funds in a wide variety of stocks. There will still be the threat of thieves, but life is full of folks looking for a free ride. It will be much easier to police a group of investment advisors in one room or at least one building, rather than overseeing millions of individual investment decisions being made all around America. Many life-altering decisions will be made daily by people who think the stock market is the livestock sale barn where people sell their hogs and cows each week, and that is open season for the ripoff artists of this world. That brings us back to our first concern, "Who will take care of the people who have lost it all in this type situation?"

U.S. Senator Richard Shelby recently made the nighttime TV news headlines because of all his special project fundings. Now those TV folks should realize that there are folks in Washington who take advantage of the system . . . but this is OUR senator and OUR special projects they are spewing criticism at, and it is time to hush up and mind their own business. Of course we have long known that the definition of pork is money appropriated for "them over there."

Elba schools start the new school year tomorrow (Friday)! It is hard to believe that summer is already over for the year 2001. As parents again adjust their schedules to assure their children get to school safely every day, and safely home every afternoon, we all must cooperate. A child, even the steady, dependable, mature, active child is going to dart out into the road sooner or later and all drivers must remain keenly aware of this and drive accordingly.

We had a visitor to the offices of The Elba Clipper recently. It was an Elba native who left many years ago and didn't expect to ever return. However, like many of us, as the years pass and we age, the urge to return to our roots sits. This native visited around town for a couple of days and then subscribed to the paper with full intentions of doing some fast catching up on all he has missed in the past 50 years.

Many of the medical experts are urging people to coast up with mosquitos repellent before venturing outside. Of course if you flip the page there is another expert warning about the dangers of some of these medicines. Not being smart enough to know which one to believe, we were elated when Heddy mentioned a bath oil she has will do all the same things and very effectively! We tried it and by golly, the stuff works . . . skeeters love to chomp down on us, but after coating all exposed areas with the oil we got not one single skeeter bite! Somehow we have avoided asking Heddy exactly how she found out this would work . . . maybe we don't even want to know, but just be thankful to know about it.

CHURCH NEWS

DURING VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL, the youth at the Elba United Methodist Church recently raised over $80. The money will be used in conjunction with a mission in Russia and help cloth a child living at an orphanage in that country. The Elba United Methodist children were told that it costs approximately $65 per child to cloth the children living in the orphanages, and their donation will ensure the clothing of one child over the next year. The children were commended for their generosity with the mission project which was just one of several projects they worked on during the annual Vacation Bible School.

PASTOR'S CORNER

Rev. Ron Stallard - Elba Church of God

Where did my money go?

Rom 6:23 For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Many say I have sinned and enjoyed it. This may be true and the Bible says that this kind of satisfaction is for a season. We drink but still thirst.

We have bread but are always hungry. You may say "I am not dead." I did not die when I sinned. You may be breathing and your heart may be beating but there is death in sin.

First of all, sin kills our finances. We go from one job to another, or we never get to that place of reaching our potential. The devil will attack our finances if he knows it is our weakness. The bible compares it to having a bag of money with a hole in it. We put our money there and when we look at it is gone. Sin takes our money and it is gone forever. Why does there never seem to be enough? Hag 1:6 Ye have sown much, and bring in little; ye eat, but ye have not enough; ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink; ye clothe you, but there is none warm; and ye have not earned wages, ye have not put it into a bag with holes.

Sin devastates our finances, which leads to other debts. Relationships are killed by sin. Husbands and wives are torn apart by sin. Daughters and sons are lonely and hurt because of sin. Friends and relatives hate each other because of sin. Loving families are forever devastated. How many fights and arguments between people who love each other? It takes to open our eyes.

Sin has been conquered. Jesus has defeated it. We can't escape from this torment. We can climb out of the snail through the love of our God. Jesus our savior has never let us. He is still putting faith in us back together. He is making a way when there seemed to be no way. Do not be fooled by thinking you can handle it. It is not up to you to handle. God is our redeemer. He can take on all of our transgressions. Jesus took on our sin. He is still doing it. We can get back with the Lord. He wants us to come as we are.

GO THEIR NOW DO NOT WAIT DO NOT LET DEATH OVERCOME YOU.

Accept Jesus as your savior. Ask Him to forgive you. If you are saved already then rededicate your life to Jesus. Tell Him you know who He really is. Some seed in God's kingdom and the whole in our bag will be repaired. Drink of His fountain and you will never thirst again. Eat His bread and never hunger again. Clothe yourself with the armor of God and live a happy protected life. Give God thanks. You have much to be thankful for. Seek your own experience with the Lord and you will never want to go back to the life killing ways of sin.

Chad McHarvey and New Beginnings will be singing at Sasser's Mill Assembly of God.

Local student travels to Europe

Katie Grimes, currently a senior at EHS, along with her mother, Michelle Grimes, Nancy Clark, teacher at EHS and CHA Group leader, and her sister, Amanda Sellers recently took a 10-day tour of France, Switzerland, and Italy. CHA Educational Tours are designed for teachers and students (along with other interested adults) to experience foreign languages, cultures and history first-hand.

The group began in Paris, France for a two-day stay. There they saw the Place de l'Opera, the Champs-Elysees and the Eiffel Tower. They had a great visit of Notre Dame Cathedral and the Louvre Museum where they took time to explore till their heart's were content. Seeing the "Mona Lisa" up close and personal was quite a treat for the group.

Then they took an overnight train to Zurich, Switzerland. Upon arrival the group boarded their tour bus to take a short drive to Lucerne, Switzerland. The city is famous for its medieval ramparts, the Kapellbrücke and the Lion Monument. The afternoon was free for shopping and enjoying the beautiful Alpine Mountain peaks. The next day the group journeyed through Switzerland to Lugano, the Italian part of Switzerland, for a short visit and tour.

Next, they went across the Italian border to Verona, home of the setting of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" by visiting Juliet's house and seeing her balcony. The group continued to Venice, Italy for the evening. The following day the group had a tour of Venice which included the Bridge of Sighs, the Doges' Palace and the Piazza San Marco. Also, the group visited St. Mark's Basilica and, afterwards, a Venetian glass factory for a demonstration of the glass-blowing techniques. The trip would not be complete without a ride on a gondola through the canals of Venice. At the end of the day, the group traveled through the hills of Tuscany to Florence, Italy. Two days were spent enjoying Florence with a guided tour of Giotto's Bell Tower, the Baptistry, the Piazza della Signoria and the Palazzo Vecchio. The group also visited the Duomo, the Church of Santa Croce and the Accademia to see Michelangelo's "David". They also visited a leather factory and went to Pisa's famous Leaning Tower. The group's last stop was in Rome, Italy for two days. The guided tour included the Colosseum, Roman Forum, Vatican City, St. Peter's Basilica and the fascinating Sistine Chapel. The last day in Europe was a free day to explore Rome and see other wonderful sights. Some people on the tour took the day to visit Pompeii and Sorrento, while others went to the nearby coast. Other sights the group saw were the Catacombs, the famous Fountain of Trevi, and the Staircase of the Trinita del Monte, commonly known as the "Spanish Steps".

There were so many other sights and sounds that the group enjoyed, such as taking a metro or bus in Paris and Rome. Strolling the streets and enjoying the sights leisurely were a plus for the group. The language barrier was sometimes intimidating, but more locals could speak at least some English. The trip was fast paced and full of historical information.

4-H needs volunteers

School will be starting real soon, which means a new 4-H year will also be beginning. Like in everything else, evaluations are needed and change is required. Society is not the same as it was several years ago, nor are the youth. There are basic needs that haven't changed but maybe the ways of meeting these needs do need to be looked at.

We are well into the 21st century and would like your input into the overall 4-H program of Coffee County. Many of you probably were involved in 4-H either in another county or another state or even Coffee County.

If you would be willing to serve on a planning committee or complete a survey to help others plan, please call the Extension Office in New Brockton at 894-5596 or email at aluhghes@acesag.auburn.edu members an update on the school system's technology which included a notification that the system has been E-rate-funded. Also, she told board members that the school system will be required to comply with the Children's Internet Protection Act because it receives E-rate funding.

"We're in compliance except for one or two items," Donaldson said.

She said as of July 1st, the system either had to be in compliance or showing that it was in the act of complying. Full compliance is required by Oct. 28.

Requirements include having some type of blocking/filtering which she said the system has been doing since last summer. Also, the school system must have an Internet Safety Policy.

She said the system has a working policy, but there may be a need for additional wording to that policy. She told board members that a draft of the new policy would probably be ready within the next month. Then, the school system will need to hold a public meeting so the public can review the policy.

Employees with the Alabama Department of Transportation work to complete the current road project at the Zion Chapel Schools. The project is nearing completion and motorists are urged to use safety measures when traveling in the area, especially since students will return to school on Friday, Aug. 3.

the school complex and the buses use the road for the routes."

He said without the secondary road, the main entrance/exit to the school system is so congested that it is very difficult for anyone to move and traffic backs up quite a bit. Being able to use the Taylor Mill Road entrance/exit will relieve some of that congestion and allow traffic to move easier. "The road is wonderful to have," said Weeks. "We appreciate the city and their efforts in getting the road open before school starts."

Whereas the Elba road project basically focused on repairs to an already existing road, the project at the Zion Chapel School is a bit more complex. The Alabama Department of Transportation (DOT) has been working to add turning lanes into the school complex in an attempt to improve traffic flow along Alabama Highway 87, and the school zone sign (blinking light) has been moved further north from the school to allow traffic more time to slow down before entering the school zone.

Coffee County School Superintendent Linda Ingram said she and the school officials are hoping this will help traffic move better around the school. In the past, she said all traffic has been backed up because of school traffic. The intent of the road project is to get additional lanes so traffic going to the school will not get backed up so badly and traffic not associated with the school can move along without being hindered by the school traffic.

Also in an attempt to help school traffic, Ingram said the entrance/exit gates at the school complex are being widened. She said this will allow a car to exit at the same time another car is entering the school grounds.

"In the past, a number of parents have parked along the right-of-way outside the school fence and walked their children inside," said Ingram. "We want to urge everyone to come on inside the fence and park in the designated parking areas."

She said with the changes of the road project, it will no longer be feasible to park outside the fence as the right-of-way will now be about half the size it once was.

Ingram said the project is nearing completion, but everyone still needs to be extra careful while traveling around the school area. She said local law enforcement will be helping direct traffic during the first few days of school as the DOT crews work to put the finishing touch on the project.

THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

I don't know about other twelve-year-old girls, but our little one loves to either have spend-the-night company or spend the night away from home with her friends. I don't think there was more than one or two nights a week the entire summer that Melanie didn't have someone at the house, or she was at someone else's house, and that meant that Mom was running the family taxi either coming or going. I really don't mind, because our house rules are the same no matter who is visiting. However, with school starting this week at least I will always know where she is.

PASSING IT ON....

The much talked about preseason football game between Elba and Zion Chapel will take place on Friday night, August 24, at 7:00 PM at Miller Memorial Stadium, and I know that many Elba fans can't wait for the lights to come on down at Miller and for the chance to go back to see Elba Tiger football was born and see the Tigers in action against their neighbors from North Coffee County. The game will serve as a fund raiser for both programs, and I expect fans from all across the area to come out and watch the teams in action. The game will give both coaching staffs an opportunity to see their players in a game-type scrimmage before the start of the regular season, and at the same time it will give all the players a chance to get in and show what they can do. The scoreboard will be turned on and the fans will talk about the outcome of the game for many years, but the game won't be about winners or losers. It will be about two area teams coming together to play a preseason game, and about two football programs trying to raise some funds to help pay their bills. I hope everyone circles their calendar on August 24 and makes their plans to come out and see the Tigers and Rebels in action.

The Alabama Sports Writers Association released its preseason high school football rankings last week, and while the rankings are based almost solely on last season's results, they did create a few interesting thoughts.

In Class 6A, there were no Montgomery schools ranked in the top 10, while no Dothan schools, or Enterprise, even made the list of schools receiving votes.

Briarwood came in at #5 in the Class 5A poll, and there is no doubt that Briarwood has the state's top private school football program. A mild surprise in 5A was that Hillcrest, of Evergreen, received votes. The Jaguars used to be everybody's whipping boy, but those days are obviously over.

T.R. Miller was atop the Class 4A poll, right where it belongs, with Mobile private school power UMS-Wright coming in at #2. Geneva, which owns a 28-game regular season winning streak, was ranked sixth, and Daleville, Dale County and Headland also received votes. Looks like 4A is the most competitive class in the area.

Elba foe Washington County was ranked third in the preseason poll, while Pike County came in at #7. Coach Wayne Grant has put the bite back in the Bulldogs from Brundidge, and this might be the year they make a move back toward the top. Laverne also received votes in 3A, as did W.S. Neal.

Straight came in at #7 in the Class 2A rankings after last season's 11-2 slate, while Goshen just missed the top ten, as did Geneva County. South Alabama has some of the top 2A teams in the state, and I look for more to join the poll when the season kicks off.

The Brantley Bulldogs came in at #10 in Class 1A, and while Coach David Lowery's Bulldogs may be in a rebuilding process this season, there won't be any reason for anyone to feel sorry for Brantley. The Dogs never really rebuild, they just reload. G.W. Long was ranked just behind Brantley, which will no doubt give the Rebels something to talk about.

It was announced last week that Amelia Rhoades had been named the head volleyball coach at Elba High. Coach Rhoades came to Elba High last season after a long and successful career down at Kinston, and there is no doubt she will go right to work trying to build the Lady Tigers into winners on the court. It may take a little while for the girls to learn Coach Rhoades' system, but there can be little doubt that Lady Tiger volleyball is alive and well at Elba High.

While on the subject of girls sports at Elba High, I have heard rumors that school officials have changed their minds and will field a slow-pitch softball team next season. The school administration announced to the student body back last spring that Elba High would make the move to fast-pitch softball behind if they ever do make the switch. Word is that the junior high program will go fast-pitch this spring, and the varsity will make the move when the junior high players move up. That makes a lot of sense when you consider three years from now Elba High will have players that have three years of junior high experience, while the other schools will have players with three years of varsity experience. I urge the school officials to do what is best for the student-athletes at Elba High and to use that as their argument. Don't make excuses!

In closing...high school football drills will begin next week all across the state, and I urge all high school fans to get active and join their booster clubs. High school sports has been hit hard on by prolation and needs extra funding to survive. You might have an idea that will help make the difference, or may be just what the doctor ordered your school. Call your school today to find out how to join....and do it.

On August 24 at Miller Stadium

Elba Tigers to meet Zion Chapel Rebels in preseason football game

The high school football season will kick off a week early for area football fans later this month when the Elba Tigers and Zion Chapel Rebels meet for the first time ever in a preseason game scheduled for Friday, August 24, at Miller Memorial Stadium.

The preseason game will begin at 7 p.m. and consist of four quarters, and will serve as a fund-raiser for both programs.

"Back several years ago the Alabama High School Athletic Association approved jamborees either in the spring or in the fall," stated Elba Tiger coach Mike Waters. "Many schools added the game to their schedule and the fans will be fired up and looking for bragging rights, we as coaches will use the game as a chance to get in a full contact scrimmage before the start of the regular season. I see the game as a positive for both programs, and hope the fans will come out and support both teams. The game will be played at Miller Stadium, at the old high school, and that should help create some excitement. The old stadium and field are in great condition, and the game will give many Elba fans a chance to go back to the stadium and see the Elba Tigers back on the field."

At South Alabama Speedway

Elba's Tim Hudson continues to dominate racing action

By Mark Chisum

South Alabama Speedway held the Midseason Championship Race for the Super Street class Saturday night, July 21. Jeff Smith has been the leader in this class all year, and solidified that position with a victory in the double points race.

Scott Whitehead took the early lead from the pole position, but Smith was quick in taking command of the race. Smith, who set a track record for the class in qualifying, took the lead from Whitehead on the second circuit and stretched out to a comfortable lead. Smith survived one caution on lap 10, but cruised to the win ahead of Whitehead. Toby Seay finished his fourth feature win of the year. Martin started seventh and ran down Bowers, who had moved out to a big lead, but was unable to make a move as laps ran out. Blake Streetman was third, Timbo Kendrick fourth, and Waylon Spivey fifth.

In the Street Stock Feature, Jamie Bowers held off a hard charging Brian Martin to take his fourth feature win of the year. Martin started seventh and ran down Bowers, who had moved out to a big lead, but was unable to make a move as laps ran out. Blake Streetman was third, Timbo Kendrick fourth, and Waylon Spivey fifth.

Tim Hudson came from ninth starting spot to win the Roadrunner Feature. Sam Smith grabbed the early lead before Ricky Osborn charged into the lead on the second lap. Osborn held the lead until Hudson went by on the outside with four laps to go. Todd Boswell also slipped by Osborn on the last lap to take second. Smith slipped back to fourth. Keith Peacock finished fifth.

Racing continues this Saturday at the 4/10 mile Kinston oval. On the schedule are heats and features in all local classes. For more information, contact the speedway at (334)565-3539, or visit the track's website at www.southalabamiaspeedway.com. Results:

Dorsey Trailer Company hosts nationwide dealer meeting in Elba on Thursday and Friday CHRISS STREET, CEO of The Dorsey Trailer Company, is shown receiving a "Welcome Back to Elba" Certificate of Recognition just delivered by special courier from Alabama Governor Don Siegelman. Presenting the certificate is Rhonda Lyn, public relations specialist, with the Elba trailer company. The certificate arrived during a special Dorsey dealer meeting held in Elba last week.

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

A host of long time Dorsey Trailer dealers descended on Elba for a multi day company/dealer meeting last Thursday and Friday. The dealers were here to get refreshed on what the company has to offer, meet the members of the new management team, tour the Elba plant and observe first hand the changes the facility is undergoing.

They were also made keenly aware of the professional abilities of the experienced workers at the local manufacturing facility and the loyalty to the Dorsey name by these workers and the community as a whole.

This was the first public effort by the company owners in their quest of restoring Dorsey Trailers to the forefront of an industry it long led before falling on hard times and ultimately into bankruptcy last year.

Company CEO Chriss Street has exhibited an openness rare in today's business world as he plots the course for a successful return of the Dorsey product line to greatness. He freely discussed plans and goals with the dealers, public officials and with the news media.

Street told the dealers of plans to begin building a few new specialty trailers this month and gradually expanding the workforce as the orders for new trailers increase. The company plans a much wider range of products than was produced here in recent years. Flatbed trailers were made in a Georgia plant near Atlanta for several years, but the materials, designs and jigs for this work have been returned to the Elba facility by the new owners. That line of trailers will be joined by a number of other high quality specialty products to be built in Elba, all designed to make the company successful again and offer steady employment to area citizens.

On Thursday, the dealers were fed a locally catered noon meal right in their main meeting room. Thursday night they gathered again at "Aunt B's" with a number of company representatives, former company representatives who still had personal friendships with the long time dealers and other local citizens to discuss Dorsey Trailers, the people and life in Elba and the world's problems. A grilled steak and potato dinner, followed by a wide variety of desserts, helped the dealers understand the finer details of each of these matters much better.

Also joining the group Thursday night was Mrs. Anne Payne, director of the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs, which is working closely with the management to get the local facility back into operation.

New Brockton Town Council gets update on furniture sale for peanut butter monument

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The New Brockton Town Council zoomed through its agenda Monday evening, Aug. 6, during the regular monthly meeting as most items served only as updates for the council.

Mayor Charles Cole began the meeting by updating council members on the sale of furniture for the Peanut Butter Monument.

Since the beginning of June, the Town of New Brockton has been selling furniture built by Rayfield Reynolds of Elba as an effort to accumulate funds for the erection of a monument commemorating New Brockton as the first town in the nation to produce number one peanut butter.

During Monday evening's meeting, Cole told council members that the town has made $891 thus far in the sale of the furniture. Also, he said there are currently several orders for various items of furniture awaiting construction.

"We're still not really pushing it (the furniture sale)," Cole said. "This has mostly come from people reading or hearing about it."

He said anyone interested in purchasing a piece of the wood furniture should contact the New Brockton Town Hall. Pieces are available for view or orders can be taken.

New Brockton Police Chief Jerry Gilbert was scheduled to address the council with an update of the cellular phone service; however, Gilbert was unable to attend the meeting due to family obligations.

Mayor Cole said it is his understanding that the digital units approved by the council for purchase during the July meeting are serving the needs of the police department. The digital units were purchased to replace the cellular telephones in the patrol cars. During the July meeting, Gilbert told council members he felt moving to the digital system would better serve the department and would be more cost effective.

Mayor Cole also took the responsibility of delivering the police chief's monthly report to council members during Monday evening's meeting.

He said the chief had told him that the patrol cars are averaging about 50 miles per shift, and gas cost the town approximately $188 less during the month of July.

The mayor also announced that Brandon Lassiter, a full-time police officer, had left the department to accept a position elsewhere. Cole said the town was not looking to replace Lassiter with another full-time officer, and a part-time officer had already been acquired to replace him.

Jeff Shelton has been hired by the police department to serve as a part-time officer.

"This will give us only four full-time officers," Cole said.

In regards to uniform traffic citations, Cole said the department had written tickets for the following during the month of July.

Public involvement meeting on removal of crooked bridge set for Thursday, Aug. 9

The Alabama Department of Transportation will hold a public involvement meeting for Project No. BR-484(5), Coffee County, on Thursday, Aug. 9, 2001 between the hours of 5:30 and 7 p.m. at the Elba Elementary School Cafeteria located at 102 Tiger Drive in Elba.

This project concerns the removal of the bridge over White Water Creek (crooked bridge) on Alabama Highway 125 in Elba.

During the July 9 meeting of the Elba City Council, a resolution was approved by the council at the request of the Alabama

Department of Transportation to remove the crooked bridge in conjunction with the levee work planned by the Corp. of Engineers.

A formal presentation will not be made at the Thursday, Aug. 9, public involvement meeting, and interested citizens are encouraged to attend at their convenience during the specified for the meeting. Citizens will be provided information concerning the project by view visual displays and by participating in informal conversations with Department of Transportation personnel.

TOUGH TO TRAVEL... The driver of the above tractor-trailer was unable to keep his rig on the road Monday afternoon, Aug. 6, as he headed toward the Elba area. It appears the driver had made a left hand turn off of Alabama Highway 141 onto U.S. Highway 84 near the Curtis community when he lost control, and the vehicle rolled on its side. Non-hazardous materials were being transported at the time of the accident, and the driver escaped without injury; however, the Elba Fire Department and Coffee County EMS responded to the scene for precautionary measures. Winds and rain from Tropical Storm Barry moved through the Elba area late Sunday night, Aug. 5, and Monday, Aug. 6, but it is unknown if the weather played a part in the accident. The accident was investigated by a local unit of the Alabama State Troopers office.

Siegelman unveils round two of Ten Most Wanted campaign

Gov. Don Siegelman last week unveiled the second phase of an ad campaign designed to bring some of Alabama's worst deadbeat parents to justice by publicizing their names and faces in newspapers across the state. The "Hide and Seek" ads will be published in seven different regions throughout the state.

"We must continue to support the vast majority of Alabama parents who work hard every day to do right by their kids," said Siegelman. "But mark my words, for those who turn their backs on their children and hide from their responsibility as parents, we will seek you out."

The 70 individuals pictured in the "Hide and Seek" ads owe nearly $3 million in child support. Each of the ads pictures 10 offenders from a region in Alabama and lists the county of their last address, amount owed and number of children. "Hide and Seek" will run as a full-page ad in the newspaper with the largest circulation in each county in Alabama.

Each of the regional lists has been compiled from data submitted by county departments of Human Resources. To make the list, offenders must owe substantial child support obligations and also have a demonstrated long-term lack of cooperation with the Child Support Program.

Since the "Lost Dogs" ads were first published in February, five of the top offenders have been located. Since the ad campaign began, child support collections jumped by $1.7 million from individuals contacted and informed they were eligible to be included in the ads.

Siegelman has unveiled his Early Learning Commission report, which details a comprehensive, 45-step strategy designed to improve early learning for all of Alabama's children. Last week, Siegelman visited a parenting center at the Huntsville Hospital to discuss the parenting component of the report. According to the report, parents are their children's first and most important teachers.

Siegelman was joined for this announcement by Bill Fuller, commissioner of the Alabama Department of Human Resources, Governor Siegelman and I pledge to be increasingly aggressive and turn up the heat for the parents who insist on shirking their responsibilities to their children," said Fuller.

Alabama's Ten Most Wanted legislation was passed last year by the Alabama Legislature after Siegelman announced the initiative in his 2000 State of the State address. The law requires the Alabama Department of Human Resources (DHR) to publish top ten lists of delinquent child support obligors twice each year in Alabama newspapers.

Anyone information related to these offenders can report it to DHR on a special toll-free number, 1-877-774-9512. Visit <http://www.dhr.state.al.us/> for more information on this program or other DHR efforts.
